The catalog of cartels of the Plurilingual Zone

Since the creation of the Plurilingual Zone in June 2017, our zone lacked its own catalog of cartels.

This observation led us, the delegates, the members of the coordination commission and myself, to take up its creation without delay so that all the cartels of the members of the forums of the zone can have visibility both in the zone and at the level of the IF-EPFCL. The future catalog will be present online and will thus be able to find its place on the site of the IF-EPFCL in the same way as the catalogs of the other zones.

Alongside the need for visibility of the cartels in our zone, let us also underline the importance of their centralization and the possibilities that this offers in terms of exchange of knowledge between us through, for example, inter-cartels.

Why this haste?

Beyond chronological time, there is also for our zone the logical time of the link to the School (EPFCL-, the cartel is one of its means and a not insignificant one, as Colette Soler reminds us in her text "School Cartel"¹). Lacan created his School and the institution of the cartel simultaneously. This clarification is not insignificant, it opens up the question of the presence of the school via the cartels. The School, like the cartels, is based on work-transference, the scope of which is twofold: firstly, it makes it possible to ward off the Imaginary and the repression which is always at work in groups, and secondly, and most importantly, to quote Lacan: "the teaching of psychoanalysis can only be transmitted from one subject to another by means of a work-transference."²

We remind members who are new to the forums that the cartel is a small working group composed by "mutual choice" of 3 to 5 members +1 and whose duration is more or less two years. All members of the forums can create cartels, choose their theme and their composition.

Cartels therefore have a fundamental place and function within any analytical group. Making them visible through the catalog of cartels and later through the organization of inter-cartels in the zone is one of the tasks of our 2023-2024 mandate.
